

Audie Williams,

Thanks very much for the “Davey Derby’s” generous financial support to Paul Rukus and his family during their time of need. Paul came in this morning for our tool box talk and brought donuts and muffins for the boys. It was a very emotional time as Paul and his wife were overwhelmed by the generosity of his fellow employees at Crofton, of which your sizable donation played a large role.

He looks good and is off to Vancouver for stem cell removal this week and then back to Vancouver in early January for six weeks for the transplant treatment. We are all keeping our fingers crossed as he hopes to be back to work by the end of the summer.

As a group the boys were able to collect just over $15,000 in donations for Paul and his family from mill employees. He and his wife were very appreciative and now have one less thing to worry about over Christmas and their long stay in Vancouver.

Thanks again for your generous donation.
